Moratorium on Applications for New Generic Nursing Education Programs

The Georgia Board of Nursing has received the June 2006 report of the Georgia Task Force on Health Care Professionals. The Board has carefully reviewed the recommendations stated in the Task Force Report, especially the commitment of the Board of Regents and other Task Force members to increase the salaries of current nursing education faculty and to increase funding to prepare future nursing educators. Based upon the commitment of Task Force members to implement the June 2006 recommendations, the Board hereby lifts, effective January 1, 2007, the moratorium it imposed in November 2005 upon the acceptance and processing of applications for new generic nursing education programs proposed by colleges and universities in which other generic programs leading to initial registered nurse licensure do not exist.

Applications may be submitted to the Board for approval of new nursing education programs in Georgia beginning January 1, 2007. New program applications will be reviewed, evaluated, and considered for approval by the Board in accordance with guidelines including, but not limited to, the following:

- The availability of qualified faculty;
- The availability and quality of clinical sites available to nursing students for “hands-on” clinical experience with patients;
- Coordination with existing programs, including the extent any newly proposed programs may affect the quality and effectiveness of existing nursing education programs; and
- Compliance with Georgia law and Board Rules.

The Board may impose a moratorium in the future upon new programs leading to initial licensure if the Board determines that such action is necessary to protect, promote, and preserve the public health, safety, and welfare pursuant to the Board’s statutory authority to regulate registered professional nursing education and practice in Georgia.
